

DECKING INSTALLATION

Decking installation is the process of building a deck, which involves installing footings, posts, beams, and joists. Once these structural elements are in place, the decking boards are laid to create the finished deck surface. Depending on the design, fascia and skirting may also be added to complete the project

Decking installation is a lot more than just laying the deck boards — although that's a big part of the project, too. Whether you're replacing an existing deck, extending an existing deck, or building a brand-new structure, a deck project requires proper planning.
